Brief Report:

The Toastmaster's Club of NRCM College successfully organized the event "Dress and Dine" on 4th February 2026 from 1:00 PM onwards at the MT Block, NRCM College (Offline mode).

The event aimed to enhance participants' awareness and skills in professional dressing and dining etiquette, essential for personal confidence and success in social and corporate environments.

The event featured addresses from several notable dignitaries:

- Dr. R. Lokanadham, Principal, spoke about the significance of presentation development for students.
- Dr. Shobhan, Training and placement officer, spoke about the importance of learning such skills and etiquette in the process of placement and campus drives.
- Mr Eshwar Sunadaram, Faculty-MBA, spoke about etiquette and deliverance, also highlighted the importance of the event.
- Dr. Indrani, Faculty-FME, praised the organization and delivered a speech on importance of dressing appropriately and dine in professional setup.
- Palti Mamtha, Faculty-FME, spoke very highly of the student organizers and the mentor of TMC for conducting such events.

Participants

The event saw enthusiastic participation from all Toastmaster's Club members, along with the club mentor Ms. N. Tabasum, the College Principal, and English faculty members. A total of 62 participants attended.

Event Proceedings

The program commenced with an opening address by club mentor Ms. N. Tabassum, who welcomed everyone and set the context for the session. This was followed by brief remarks from the Principal, Dr. R. Lokanadham and English faculty members, who emphasized the importance of etiquette in holistic personality development.

The core session focused on comprehensive guidance: explaining various dress codes for different occasions (professional, semi-formal, interviews, etc.) and detailed dining etiquette rules. A practical dining experience was arranged, where food was served to all participants. Members actively practiced cutlery placement, napkin usage, proper seating, and polite conversation during meals. Interactive discussions allowed participants to share opinions, clarify doubts, and exchange experiences.

Speakers and Guests

Key addresses were delivered by the College Principal and English faculty members. No external speakers were invited, keeping the focus internal and club-centric.

Organizing Team and Roles

The entire Toastmaster's Club collaborated seamlessly. The marketing team managed invitations and outreach, the event organizing team handled overall planning and coordination, the content team documented proceedings and prepared materials, and the volunteer team ensured smooth venue setup, arrangements, and hospitality.

Poster/ Brochure of the Event

The poster is a vertical rectangular design with a light gray background. At the top, there are two logos: the Toastmasters International logo on the left and the NRCM logo on the right, both flanked by decorative leafy branches. Below the logos, the text "You're Invited to a" is centered. The main title "Dress & Dine" is written in a large, elegant, cursive script. Underneath the title, it says "A Toastmasters Exclusive Experience". The date and time are presented in a stylized format: "Feb" is centered above a horizontal line, followed by "Wednesday 04 01:00 PM" and "2026" below it. The venue "Venue: MT Block – Seminar Hall" is listed below the date. A bold statement "OPEN TO TOASTMASTERS CLUB MEMBERS ONLY" is centered below the venue. At the bottom, there are two silhouettes: a woman on the left and a man on the right, both wearing formal attire. The entire poster is framed by decorative leafy branches at the corners.
